A Father to the Fatherless

Parenthood is God’s idea. The command to honor our parents was included in God’s top ten commandments. Parenthood proves God’s incredible genius and reveals His immeasurable love and concern for vulnerable children. Sadly, not all children have parents. Orphans face huge disadvantages. Like hunger, isolation, disease, and a serious lack of learning and training for life. God’s concern over this runs deep.

The Lewiston Church of Christ seeks to reflect God’s concern for orphans. Therefore, our service of worship on Sunday, November 12th, will be devoted to this godly concern. We specifically recommend the following resources for supporting orphans:

1. Orphan’s Lifeline International (an outreach among churches of Christ devoted to helping orphans in ten countries and in over 100 children’s homes).
2. New Mexico Christian Children’s Home (provides a supportive family environment for needy at-risk children in a Christian context).
3. Neema House (a home for orphans or at-risk children run by Christians in Tanzania, Africa).

These organizations exist to rescue, feed, clothe, and educate poor and abandoned children. They function in conjunction with local churches of Christ (wherever possible) to meet the physical, educational, and spiritual needs of children.

Our heavenly Father cares deeply for those who cannot care for themselves. King David called his people to worship with the following description of God;

“A father to the fatherless, a defender of widows, is God in his holy dwelling. God sets the lonely in families...” (Psalm 68:5-6).
